INLOOK

Westridge School
Pasadena, California

DEDICATION

Wit, unfailing good humor, sincere interest in her subject and students, and a wealth of knowledge characterize her presentation of History; in hopes that many future classes shall benefit from a learning experience with her, we, the Staff of 1968, dedicate this book to Rosemary Loneran.

HEADMISTRESS

The Inlook is the story of a school year. It is also the story of the class of 1968. Members of this class have led the school with imagination, humor, and a sense of new directions. As they join the growing numbers of Westridge alumnae, we wish them well and thank them for their contributions of time and talent which have shaped the life of the school. They will be missed but they will also be remembered because they have given something of value to their school.

PROJECT OPEN FUTURE

Several Westridge students participated in the summer project as teachers, friends, and counselors living in a Scripps College dormitory with sixty seventh grade girls. The teachers and the young girls realized in many ways how much they had learned from each other about the human capacity for understanding as they worked together in a program aimed at college preparation.
